

RECRUITMENT ROADSHOWS

With experience at most universities across the UK, we understand logistics, planning and the best way to generate ROI and students to your stand!

At Leisure King we've worked with a range of companies at most universities across the UK helping to deliver recruitment roadshows, so we have a good understanding of logistics, health and safety and how to build awareness of your brand.

Creating a relaxed and informal atmosphere for easier approach of students to engage with your brand and find out more information is something we take pride in and understand what works best.

This is how we know students love giveaways! We work with you from the start to plan the most effective foods and activities that generate a great footfall and give students a chance to grab some goodies. Working to promote your roadshow hashtag in the mix, you'll be trending on social media in no time with the sights of doughnuts, selfies and popcorn on everyone's timeline!

With most of our food options and kit having branding options available and with hire staff to serve, all you have to focus on is your conversation with the students.
