

WIRELESS HEADSETS

Wireless headset hire for conferences, exhibitions, seminars and live events.

Wireless headset hire throughout the whole of the UK for conferences, exhibitions, meetings and live events. By using wireless headphones for the audience at your event participants can clearly hear any speakers from a wider range of distances. This helps you to utilise the space better, improve audio quality and make the event more engaging. Our wireless headsets also reduce noise pollution ensuring no audio content is missed.

The wireless headset hire comes with everything that you need to run your silent event - wireless headsets, transmitters and chargers (although everything will be sent to you fully charged). The transmitter has a range of up to 300m, up to three channels (one channel per 25 headphones) and can be used with most music devices (including your smart phone), simply plug in and play. Having up to three channels also means that you can have different audio playing at the same time, useful for exhibitions or for events with audio needed in multiple languages.
